London, UK SW1H 0BG

Dear Mr. Lestrade,

I am writing you regarding the open Detective Position in your Police Department at Scotland Yard. As a consulting detective with over sixteen years of experience in criminal investigations, I believe I am a suitable candidate for this position, and ask that you consider me when filling this role.

I was first introduced to Scotland Yard upon while investigating a case in 1885. I admire the quality of the Scotland Yard Police Force, as well as its moral principles and strict devotion to British Law. With my deductive reasoning abilities, I hope to sustain and build upon this high standard.

I am confident that I am able to fulfill all the responsibilities required of a detective at Scotland Yard. Extensive past experience in similar roles has sharpened my deductive reasoning ability, giving me the means to obtain empirical evidence that may be over looked by the untrained eye, in order to solve criminal investigations in a timely manner. Extensive martial arts and weapons training lets me defend myself in the inevitable violent confrontations that arise when one ventures out in search of a spoor. An excellent wardrobe of disguises allows me to blend in among swarthy inhabitants of the criminal underworld, in order to extract vital information from unwitting informants.

A further account of my skills and work history has been included in the attached resume. I am available for an interview on weekdays from 9 AM until 7 PM, and can be reached at (123) 555-0100.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Sherlock Holmes
